Subject: Clean our river and promote our economy

A plan to clean up the north reach of the Willamette river needs to consider the sustainability of the environment, the economy and citizens in our area. Blocking the river and disrupting the river bottom, ship movements, jobs and businesses up and down the river needs to be a primary focus. First do no harm is a credo that should be primary in any final decision by EPA when considering a plan to clean up the river. Thanks for considering my opinion and thank you for your time to hear my concern for the health of our river and community here in Portland.

Sincerely,
